Ex C of C Va. vol 4 - 270

County courts were established in 1751 by the appointment of eight Justices of the Peace, four of whom could act and compose a court, the oldest in commission presiding. They were required to meet monthly, and the day originally appointed for this county was the first Thursday in each month, but this was subsequently changed to the first Monday and continued to meet on this day till the county courts were abolished by the Constitution of 1902, when all matters adjusted in the county courts were trans-
